A Great Movement.

According to the statistical report of the Sunday-schools in the United States rendered at the late International convention held in Chicago, there has been an increase of the scholar membership of all the Sunday-schools in the U. S. since 1881 of 365,645. It is interesting to know by what agencies this increase has been secured, for it shows that a great missionary work has been done to bring an army of 365,000 into active membership with our Sunday-schools. No more important work can be conceived of, for it has to do with the destiny of our entire country.

The three last annual reports of the American Sunday-school union, the old denominational society "that cares for the children," who are provided for by no one else, show that since 1881 it has brought 185,084 children into 4,947 new Sunday-schools, a number equal to 5,000 more than one-half of all the increase reported as having been secured by this and all other agencies during these three years. But this American Sunday-school union did more than this—it aided 4,825 other schools, which have 46,774 teachers and 515,714 scholars—so that in these three years it reached 8,772 communities and Sunday-schools, and 700,784 children and youth, and then realized and revisited these schools 9,245 times, besides making 92,484 visits to families, supplying 45,019 destitute persons with the scriptures and holding 27,247 religious meetings. That there is great need for more of just such work in our country, is evident from the fact that according to the International secretary's report there are but 8,094,478 scholars in all the Sunday-schools in all the United States, that report to this convention, which the chairman of the executive committee said was five per cent. too small. If five per cent. were added, we would have 8,496,201 scholars in all our Sunday-schools. But the statement was made that 20 per cent. should be deducted for those under 21 and under 6 years of age and those who attend more than one school and are counted twice, which deduction would leave 6,748,961 children and youth of school age in all our Sunday-schools, while there are at least 9,000,000 more children of that age in our country, and very likely most of them attend no Sunday-school.

Truly the American Sunday-school union is doing a great work for present and future America, for which there is most urgent need. Any who would like to read its last annual report, or aid its work by gift of funds may send to

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggists, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years, standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at W. C. Gaston & Co., Drug Store.

Pungent Points on Baking.

As much depends on the baking as on the making. Biscuit and gingerbread require a quick oven; flour bread a slower one. Fruit-cake requires more cooking than a plain sugar-cake, and should be baked slowly. Cookies want a quick oven and close attention, or they will burn. For brown bread a hot oven at first is necessary; and a slow and steady fire after the bread is heated through. Apple-pies should be baked slowly, so that the apple may be thoroughly cooked. Cake should not be disturbed while baking; a sudden jar after it has risen before it is cooked through, is pretty sure to make it fall; or if the oven door is left open while it is baking long enough to let in too much cool air, it may fall. There should be as steady a fire as possible.—"Aunt Olive," in Pittsburg National Stockman.

Many people refuse to take Cod Liver Oil on account of its unpleasant taste. This difficulty has been overcome in Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It being as palatable as milk, and the most valuable remedy known for the treatment of Consumption, Scrofula, Bronchitis, General Debility, Wasting Diseases of Children, Chronic Coughs and Colds, has caused physicians in all parts of the world to use it. Physicians report our little patients take it with pleasure. Try Scott's Emulsion, and be convinced. Dr. Thomas Hall, Holly Creek, Ga., says: "I am using Scott's Emulsion in the case of a little child one year old, wasting away, and it is improving fast. Before nothing would stay in its stomach, but the Emulsion agrees with it perfectly."

Profit in Mules.

There is one branch of stock raising which is not by any means overdone, and that is the raising of mules. As the scope of agricultural country in the United States increases, the greater the demand for animals suited for draft purposes, and it is an acknowledged fact that in many sections the mule has as many friends as the horse for this object. The great argument in favor of mules are their hardiness, endurance and the ease with which they can be sold.

A Kentucky breeder, who has been engaged in raising mules for thirty years, makes the following suggestion: The raising of mules in Kentucky or the West is not profitable unless the animal produced be of good size—say from fourteen and one half to fifteen and one half hands high. The best jacks for this class of mules are not less than fifteen hands high. The dams are of equal importance and should be improved blooded mares. Mules from such crosses are the best seen in Kentucky and always command a good price. The most important improvement in jacks in the state of Kentucky was through the introduction of the well-known Spanish jacks, Mammoth and Warrior. These were imported from Spain between the years 1835 and 1840. These jacks, at date of arrival, were valued at about $5,000 each, and were full sixteen hands high. As breeders, they were remarkably fine, and greatly improved the size of the jack stock by crossing on the common jennet of Kentucky. Later importations from the same source made additional improvements, but none so decided as the two above named.

According to estimates made by the United States agricultural department, the state in which mules rank highest is New Jersey, the next highest being in Maryland. Texas has the greatest number of any state, and the animals are valued at a lower price—less than one-half the average value in New Jersey, for instance. Kentucky and Missouri show up well in this industry.

The prejudice against the mule is an unjust one. For farm work and road hauling it exceeds all other animals; it is more economical, is stronger, harder, never gets sick, and, according to old traditions, never dies.—Rural World.

"Be wise to-day; 'tis madness to defer." Don't neglect your cough. If you do your duty may be that of the countless thousands who have done likewise, and who to-day fill consumptive graves. Night-sweats, spitting of blood, weak lungs, and consumption itself if taken in time can be cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery."

How to Know Good Meat.

Dr. Letheby lays down the following simple rules for the guidance of those in search of good meat:

1. It is neither of a pale pink, nor of a deep purple tint.

2. It has a marked appearance from the ramification of little veins of fat among the muscles.

3. It should be firm and elastic to the touch. Bad meat is wet, sodden and flabby, with the fat looking like jelly or wet parchment.

4. It should have little or no odor, and the odor should be disagreeable. Diseased meat has a sickly, cadaverous smell, and sometimes a smell of pus. This is discoverable if the meat is chopped and drenched with warm water.

5. It should not shrink or waste much in cooking.—Hall's Journal of Health.

A Post Office-Thief Nabbed

KANSAS CITY, July 27.—For six or seven months numerous complaints have come to Postmaster Shelley of the loss of letters containing money and postal notes, and for a long time special officers have been working on the case, endeavoring to discover the thief. Their efforts in this respect were at last crowned with success this morning by the arrest of L. O. Wilson, a clerk at Station A, at the union depot. When arrested Wilson broke completely down and confessed having opened several letters containing money. He is a young man 24 years of age, and has been in the postal service about nine months. A little over a year ago he passed the examination before the civil-service commission, at which time he furnished the certificate of character required under the law. It is thought that the amounts stolen will foot up at least $500, and that he commenced opening letters soon after entering into the service of the government. When arrested ten letters were found on his person, all of which had been opened. Four of the number contained postal notes. The arrest was made by Postoffice Inspector Stivers, of St. Louis, and Deputy United States Marshal Molloy. The former officer arrived in the city several days ago and at once went to work on the case. Just previous to the arrest of Wilson he was observed on a letter and put it into his pocket.

Ed. J. Brown, druggist, of Edina, Mo., writes: "My health had been very poor for years. I only weighed 110 pounds when I commenced using 'Nervine Tonic.' I have used two bottles and now weigh 130 pounds, and am much stronger and better than I have been for 5 years. My customers see what it has done for me and buy it eagerly. It gives great satisfaction."

Moult.

Now is the time fowls begin their annual moult. The next two months will be the critical time with all old fowls.

Feed nourishing food now, but feed in form easiest digested. When the breeder can give the special attention to choice fowls, he should as far as possible feed cooked food, or at least warm mashies. Any form easily digested will do. If whole grain is fed, feed very little corn, feed oats, wheat or cracked corn. Feed occasionally now throughout the moulting season a little flour of sulphur to your fowls, say once a week. Never forget now the Douglas mixture in water. The iron tonic in water and the sulphur as a gentle alternative, will greatly aid fowls through moulting. Epsom salts also can be fed now occasionally to fowls. I think Epsom salts in moderate quantity occasionally, say twice a week, in soft food or in the water trough will prevent cholera. When you use the salts in water, do not put the Douglas mixture in the same day. Use the salts occasionally, but use the Douglas mixture regularly. Keep the houses and yards clean all summer. If fowls are kept in close confinement, turn up the ground in yards frequently the next two months.

Put piles of crumbled charcoal about the yard. The chicks will eat it greedily now. Fowls will eat quantities of charcoal in summer. It corrects acidity, aids digestion and helps them to assimilate their food. Use carbolic acid in white-wash, and wash houses inside and out frequently now. Use kerosene freely on roosts. Sprinkle water prepared with carbolic and sulphuric acid over the floor. Do this repeatedly. Kill all lice, vermin. Destroy all eggs of vermin, and all spores of disease.—Howell Cods in Southern Farmer.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS is an unfailing cure for all diseases originating in biliary derangement caused by the malaria of miasmatic countries. No other medicine now on sale will so effectually remove the disturbing elements, and at the same time tone up the whole system. It is sure and safe in its action. 214

Do the people of these United States expect to have an honest and fair government carried on by men who commence political life with very small means, and after a few years in congress become the owners of hundreds of thousands and in some cases of millions, all the time living in princely style with no visible income but $5,000 a year? Is there no under-handed jobbery in all this? Or have the people whose these men represent lost their sense of propriety, their love of honesty and fairness, and Gallo like care for none of these things? The legitimate results of such things will appear sooner or later, and then what? It needs no prophet to tell.—St. Louis Advocate.

The devil has written the Atchison Globe a poem for publication, from which we make the following extracts: "I stand at the gate of the smouldering land, and bask in its sulphurous glow. I beckon the spirits with welcoming hand to the region of torture below. The young and the old, and the poor, who lived in the palace of sin, I beckon and welcome them all to my door—I gather, I gather, I gather them in. The clump who deserted the town of his birth, to boom up a place far away, who'd never invest in his city's own earth, for fear that the move wouldn't pay; who groaned of the evils that held down his town, and never would squander his tin, as sure as I'm living he's wandering down—I'll gather, I'll gather, I'll gather him in. The woman who sits near the front at the play, with a bonnet as big as a door, will come to these regions at some future day and never go out any more; to thousands of people for dozens of years, a nuisance and a bore she has been, and I'll pile on the brimstone and laugh at her tears—I'll gather, I'll gather, I'll gather her in."

CELIA FORBES, of Kenton, O., was walking through the new courthouse at Tiffin with some young friends. Suddenly she stepped up to the marriage record and dared any young man present to take out the papers and make her his. The challenge was accepted by a young man of the party, and the knot was tied at Fostoria the same night. Late last night the sudden groom entered Kansas City from the direction of the Hannibal bridge, bound for the mountains.

In the course of half an hour some twenty trout were killed in this way.

The touching plea of a railroad conductor to his wife ought to go to the heart of everyone who has any responsibility for the running of Sunday railway trains. Said he: "We need Sunday so badly. No one can tell how lonesome and homesick and desolate I feel sometimes while passing along through the cities and villages, and hearing the church-bells ringing Sabbath mornings and Sabbath evenings." Somebody will have an awful account to give, by and by, for robbing men and women of their Sundays.—Religious Telescope.

A PETITION to congress is being circulated in Brunswick, Me., to pass a law to prohibit Sunday mails and no mails to be collected or distributed on Sunday; to forbid interstate commerce on Sunday by railroad trains, and to forbid military drilling, musters and parades by United States cadets, soldiers and marines on Sunday. A large number of citizens have signed the petition.

ONE of the evils of this country, and especially of the South, is the credit system. Many farmers anticipate their income by borrowing money or contracting debts, and so are kept in a chronic state of impecuniosity. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR DYSPEPSIA

Up to a few weeks ago I considered myself the champion Dyspeptic of America. During the years that I have been afflicted with this disease, almost everything claimed to be a specific for Dyspepsia in the hope of finding something that would afford permanent relief. I had about made up my mind to abandon all more when I noticed an endorsement of Simmons' Liver Regulator by a prominent Georgian, a jurist whom I knew, and concluded to try its effects in my case. I have used but two bottles, and am satisfied that I have struck the right thing at last. I felt the beneficial effects almost immediately. Unlike all other preparations of a similar kind, no special instructions are required as to what one shall or shall not eat. This fact alone ought to commend it to all troubled with Dyspepsia.
